Do I need a phone line to use Quickline Broadband?

Frequently Asked Questions · https://quickline.co.uk/knowledge/do-i-need-a-phone-line-to-use-quickline-broadband/

A lot of customers wonder if they need a phone line to use Quickline Broadband. The answer is no but we do have an analogue telephony alternative service if you want one. We've built our own independent network, so our broadband doesn't rely on outdated copper phone lines. That means you get a faster, more reliable connection without the need for a landline.

Plus, the old copper network is being phased out, so switching to Quickline keeps you ahead with a future-proof connection that's ready for what's next.

Still want a landline/telephony service? - We've got you covered. If you want to use a phone line with your Quickline Broadband service we have the perfect addon for you.

Check out Quickline Talk+ our new "VoIP" telephone service.

You can still use a standard handset, so no need to get new phones. You can even bring your existing number with you.
