Will bad weather affect my connection?

Technical Support · https://quickline.co.uk/knowledge/will-bad-weather-affect-my-connection/

Worried that bad weather will affect your connection? Don't be. We know our customers rely on our service all year round, so we've designed our network with the UK's weather in mind.

This means that gusty winds, heavy rainfall, summer heat, thick snow and other conditions should have little to no impact on our service.

Extreme weather can sometimes affect our service. Don’t worry if this happens. Our service should return to normal automatically once the weather passes and repairs are done.

Want to know if there is a known service outage in your area? Check our handy service status page.

You can also follow us on Facebook to stay informed of any issues or planned maintenance.

