Do Quickline provide me with an Email address?

Frequently Asked Questions · https://quickline.co.uk/knowledge/do-quickline-provide-me-with-an-email-address/

You may have an existing email address that you were given by your current or old provider. Alternatively, you might be interested in getting one for the first time. If so, you may be asking yourself: Do Quickline provide me with an email address?

Quickline does not provide email addresses as part of our internet service. We specialise in delivering a fast, reliable, and affordable internet service. Therefore, we leave emails up to the experts. There are plenty of free and reliable email services available that you can use to set up an email address quickly.

Some recommended free Email providers are:

- Gmail (by Google): Offers a user-friendly interface, powerful spam filters, and integrates with other Google services.
- Outlook (by Microsoft): A professional option with great organization tools and calendar integration.
- Yahoo Mail: Provides ample storage and features for personal use.

Benefits of using third-party Email services

- Portability: You can keep your email address even if you change internet providers in the future.
- Advanced Features: Many third-party email services are more specialised than those offered by internet service providers (ISP's). They offer features like cloud storage, mobile apps, and integration with other tools.
- Free to Use: Most services are free, with options to upgrade for additional storage or functionality.
- Futureproof: Many third-party email providers update their service constantly meaning you'll always be ahead of the curve.

If you need help setting up an email account with one of these providers it's not something we can directly support. But with these providers often being used by millions of people, there is a lot of information and help available online. You can also contact them or check their online guides if you can't find the answer you need.
